DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 6, 9 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Both claims 6 and 10 fail to further limit the subject matter of claim 1 since the nut limitation is being omitted and replaced by the caulking portion. It is conceivable that claim 6 or claim 10 could be infringed by a fastener that would not also infringe claim 1. Note MPEP 608.01 (n).

In claim 9, it is not clear how "a locking groove" is structurally related to the hinge and what is being defined as "an outside of a locking groove". Further, it cannot be understood how "an outside" is defined without defining the geometry of the holder or of the groove.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Art Unit: 3676

4. Claims 1, 3-5 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Kimble (4,781,422). Note that '422 shows a casing (16), a shaft (75, 36), first friction disks (54), second friction disks (34), a nut (86) on the end of the shaft and a spring (80) between the disks and the nut.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 6 and 10, as best as understood, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kimble '422.

'422 discloses the invention as claimed but for a caulking portion used as a fastening means. It would have been an obvious matter of design choice to make the fastening portions of '422 with a caulking portion for fastening or whatever form or shape was desired or expedient. A change in form or shape is generally recognized as being within the level of ordinary skill in the art, absent any showing of unexpected results. In re Dailey et al., 149 USPQ 47.

7. Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kimble '422 in view of Tanahashi (6,233,785).

'422 does not show adjacent disks being formed of materials of different hardness. '785 teaches a combination of a hard material and a soft material friction disks adjacent each other to minimize abrasion and to improve the touch in the open/close operation (col. 7, lines 12-34). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the disks of '422 with material of different hardness as taught by '785 to minimize metal abrasion and to improve the touch in the open/close operation.

8. Claim 8 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kimble '422 in view of Wahlstedt (6,530,123).

'422 does not show grease trap in the disks. '123 teaches forming oil trap in the disks to retain lubricant. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the disks of '422 with a grease trap for retaining lubricant to enhance the life span of the hinge.

9. Claim 9 may be given favorable consideration if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
